

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

RMI Consulting, Inc. Selected by Resco Products, Inc., Duke University, and Dean Foods for Energy Risk Management Services

Chicago – December 9, 2009 – RMI Consulting, Inc. (RMI) began working with three new commercial/industrial clients this year on a combination of energy procurement strategy development and energy position management/tracking services through RMI's Know-Risk™ online software.

Resco Products, Inc. is RMI's most recent client addition, hiring RMI this past August. RMI has been assisting Resco with budget/procurement plan development, energy supplier contract review and selection, and position/supplier tracking. Earlier this year, RMI was hired by Duke University for similar services.

Dean Foods also joined RMI as a customer this past fall with a focus on multi-commodity position management through RMI's Know-Risk™ online software tool. The Know-Risk™ online tracking and reporting system is a medium for physical and financial deal capture, credit risk management, market risk management, and report generation.

RMI (www.riskmgmt.net) has over 20 years of practical experience advising public utilities and commercial companies on managing energy commodity exposure and is a leader in energy risk management consulting and brokerage. For more information on our software tools, visit www.rmienergy.com.
